SENATORS JUST FALL SHORT OF WINNING THEIR GAMES.SENATORS PLAY GOOD
BALL, BUT FAIL TO WIN

In Present Series Their Fielding Has Been of Brilliant Variety, But Their Weak Hitting Loses Games.

Ban Johnson's Absence From Meeting Responsible for Failure of Adoption of National Agreement.

The Senators have been putting up a mighty fine article of baseball since in Philadelphia, although they have lost two of the three games played, yesterday's game resulting in a tie. Hard luck, and a far more useful man to them than the great sport on earth, yet somehow the team, while playing brilliant ball in the field, fails to connect in unison at the bat, and its scattered hits in many instances go for naught.

Martin a Slugger.

Joe Martin, since joining the St. Louis team, has been hitting the ball hard and often. Hardly a game throughout the past week has Joe failed to get two or three hits, and in several he has secured three.

McCormick has proven a valuable addition to the Washington club, and a far more useful man to them than the great sport on earth, yet somehow the team, while playing brilliant ball in the field, fails to connect in unison at the bat, and its scattered hits in many instances go for naught.

To Consider Agreement.

President Ban Johnson, of the American League, did not attend the meeting yesterday at the Victoria Hotel that was held to frame a new national agreement. Mr. Johnson, however, sent word to the Senators, Pullman, of the National League, and P. T. Powers, of the National Association of Minor Leagues, who were on hand, that he would be ready to consider an agreement in about ten days. It was, therefore, decided that President Powers, together with several minor league presidents, should frame up an agreement which will be presented to the presidents of the National and American Leagues for their consideration at the coming meeting.

Mr. Powers said yesterday that President Johnson was in full accord with the provisions of the reserve rule, and would respect it in fact. The American League has no intention of raiding the minor leagues for players.

Batsmen's Chances.

Modern records would seem to indicate that it is a very difficult thing for the majority of batsmen to make more than one hit in from four to seven chances at the bat. This ordinarily seems strange because there are many elements that favor the batsman, by which he has a chance to gain an advantage. The pitcher cannot checkmate alone the batsman's attempt to hit his delivery, when he depends upon his own ability to get inside the danger line and force the batsman to accept a handicap in revealing his weakness. The pitcher cannot always avoid gratifying the batsman by giving him a ball not suited to his batting peculiarities, and where he fails in his endeavor to circumvent the batsman then it is that the pitcher must depend upon the fielders behind him.

Fluke plays materialize with greater frequency than spectators generally realize and it is through these plays that the batsman has a chance to work in a hit; in fact, some batsmen have a faculty of looking for just such instances to help them along, knowing full well that they do not possess the requisite ability, or even a measure of originality, sufficient to render them worthy of the single hit in five times up.

Got His Bumps.

"I cannot say that my raise ball is always a success," smilingly said "Iron Man" McGinty. "I have had many bumps and many of them, and probably shall again. I could not fool anyone in a recent game I pitched. Everyone hit my curves."

"I first got the hang of it from 'Billy' Rhines, the famous pitcher of Ridge-way, Pa., once a Pittsburgh player. He carried great speed with the delivery and had no curve. He used it merely as a foil for his curve ball, and did not have the best control of it. It was his best ball, however, when he could get good command of it."

"I was much taken with the delivery and thought it could be developed into more effectiveness by using a change of pace and adding to it a curve. Every winter I practiced the delivery, but found it a very difficult ball to control. I kept at it, however, and gradually gained command of the delivery, but it took me five years of practice to get it down fine."

"The raise ball cannot be used exclusively with the raise to be effective. With that alone opposing batters would soon get the hang of it and hit it a mile. The up-shoot is puzzling at first to a batter who has never faced it before, but he will soon size it up. I have found it necessary, therefore, to give a slight curve—not a big break to it. If I tried for a wide curve I would lose control of it. I therefore use just enough curve to throw the batter off."

"I have also practiced the underhand delivery, which is necessary to use with the raise, so much that I am able to give the ball a drop and also an undercurve with the same motion. The underhand swing, I find, too, saves my arm and is much less fatiguing than the overhand, shoulder motion that most pitchers use.

"In pitching my raise ball, I hold the ball tightly in my two forefingers and thumb, the same exactly as for an overhand out-curve. With a stooping motion and underhand swing I let the ball twist off my fingers with a sail upward. It floats up to the plate with a rise just enough to make the batter pop it up in the air. It didn't do that yesterday, but then you know a man cannot always sometimes tell."

DUMBARTONS TRIM
THE FAST MARINES

The Dumbarton team kept up its winning streak yesterday by defeating the fast team of Marines from the Barracks on Georgetown campus.

The score ended 2 to 1 and the large crowd present was treated to a game of ball rarely put up between amateur teams. Lowe did the box stunt for the victors, allowing his opponents but one hit, while Babylon was on the slab for the Marines. The score:

GUNTON TEMPLE BEATEN
BY PRESBYTERIANS

The Fourth Presbyterians took a fall out of Gunton Temple yesterday afternoon, trimming them 6 to 5. Five of the winners' six runs were scored in the first inning, chiefly on the errors of the Templers. Shockells started out to do the twirling for the Fourth, but was replaced by Jones, who was brought in from the infield. Seay twirled for Gunton and was hit safely nine times.

"ABE" WILSON PITCHES
HENLEY TO STANDSTILL

Senators and Athletics Play Ten-Inning Tie.

FAST WORK BY BOTH TEAMS

Nine Hits Secured Off Each Twirler, and Visitors Played Errorless Game. One Miscue for "Champs."

PHILADELPHIA, July 30.—Patrons of American League baseball in this city were treated to another extra inning battle between the Washington and Athletics teams yesterday afternoon, the contest being declared a draw at the termination of the tenth inning, each team having scored four runs. Like the game on Tuesday, yesterday's battle was replete with pretty fielding plays, which, combined with the closeness of the score, left not an uninteresting inning during the contest.

The most brilliant fielding feature was reserved for the final inning and for an Athletic player. Pickering was the man to earn temporary fame and salves of applause by his physical cleverness and fleetness. In the tenth inning Seibach singled, and was advanced to second on Lee's sacrifice, the latter being safe at first on Schreck's drop of the throw.

Seibach was anxious to score, and, taking a big lead off second, was caught by a splendid throw by the catching doctor. Coughlin was at bat, and after Seibach had reached the bench the visiting third baseman hit a sharp ball to short right center. It certainly looked good for a single. Pickering sprinted for the moving sphere directly it was hit, and by a forward dive just managed to reach the ball, and, although under full speed, the fleet outfielder held it. Without waiting to steady himself he hurled the ball with remarkable force and accuracy to the waiting Schreck, and it beat Lee by a yard or two. It was a sensational performance, and the crowd cheered "Happy" until he had taken his seat on the players' bench.

Pitchers in Form.

Wilson and Henley pitched fine ball. Victory should have been reward of each. The same number of hits were made off each, although the champions lumped four on Wilson in the third inning, which, with a base on balls and a sacrifice, yielded four runs. This was the extent of the Athletics' scoring, as Wilson grew more effective as the game advanced. On the other hand, the Senators became more familiar with Henley's curves in the later innings. Not a hit was recorded to the credit of the visitors until the fifth inning, when three singles earned a run. In the sixth two consecutive singles and a wild pitch produced another. In the eighth the tall twirler twisted himself out of a tight position. A base on balls, a double, single and hit batsman had been scored before a man had been retired. He then pulled himself together and retired the succeeding batsmen, although a fly to the outfield left in another run, which tied the score.

Monte Cross, "Emergency" Powers, McCormick, and Seibach played splendid fielding games. Attendance, 4,923.

YOUNG CORBETT DOES THE TRICK IN FIFTH

With a Terrific Right-Hand Punch He Puts Jack O'Neill to Sleep.

PHILADELPHIA, July 26.—A terrific right-hand punch that was delivered with the full impetus of Young Corbett's hitting powers knocked out Jack O'Neill in the fifth round tonight at the National Athletic Club. The punch landed with frightful force square on O'Neill's jaw, sending him prone to the floor.

He lay perfectly still for five seconds, then made an attempt to get to his feet. He was so numbed from the force of the blow that his efforts were useless, but he eventually managed to regain his feet, after the ten seconds had long before been tolled off, and made a wild dash for the ropes. He was through them and ready to jump off the stage before his seconds could catch him.

NO SMALLPOX QUARANTINE.

Health Officer Gorman and Secretary Peyton held a conference yesterday with Mayor George L. Simpson in reference to establishing a quarantine against Falls Church, where several cases of smallpox exist.

Mayor Simpson told the health authorities that in his opinion there was no need of establishing a quarantine against Falls Church as Alexandria has very little intercourse with that town, most of the inhabitants going to either Georgetown or Washington.

In the mayor's court this morning, the Hon. George L. Simpson, presiding, the following case was disposed of:
Ida Hawkins, a negro, arrested for using abusive language toward Laura Lucas, also a negro, was fined $5.

PHILADELPHIANS TO WITNESS THE BIG FIGHT

They Are Prepared to Bet $50,000 on the Result.

PHILADELPHIA, July 29.—Fifty thousand dollars of Eastern money, all furnished by the party of sporting men who leave this city on Saturday next for San Francisco, will be wagered on the coming championship fight between Jim Corbett and Jim Jeffries. Twenty ringside seats have been secured for the Philadelphians by Billy Delaney, the manager and trainer of the champion, and the big amount of money which will be carried to the far West by the local sporting men will be placed on Jeffries to win. Despite the stories from San Francisco to the effect that the champion is out of condition, the supporters of Corbett can now get odds of two to one on the champion and the Corbett money at the ringside, it is expected, will be snapped up by the Philadelphians.

They are in charge of the trip and are acting managers of the syndicate which has put up the big sum of money to be bet on the fight. All arrangements have been made for the trip. The party will leave Broad Street station on Saturday afternoon. They will travel by easy stages to the Coast, taking in the sights en route. After the fight they will tour California, guided by Billy Delaney and Champion Jeffries. They will be gone about a month, when Delaney will accompany them East and start for a tour of England with Jeffries.

JARROTT COMING TO RACE IN THIS COUNTRY

English Auto Racer May Arrange Match With Barney Oldfield.

Charles Jarrott, the English automobilist who was injured in the International Cup race in Ireland in July, will come to this country in September, according to W. J. Morgan, of New York, who recently returned from the scene of the race.

He saw Mr. Jarrott in London, who told him that he would come here to meet the best American racing automobilists.

It is probable that Alfred Reeves, of the Empire City track, will try to make a match between Jarrott and Barney Oldfield. Mr. Moores, one of the members of the American team in the International Cup race, said he did not think his car was much slower than any of the others in that contest, and he may consent to meet the English invader in a fifteen-mile race.

MONEY FOR REMOVAL OF DANGEROUS BUILDINGS

Acting Auditor Tweedale Suggests a Way to Provide It.

The District is at present without a fund to pay for the destruction of dangerous buildings, and Acting Auditor Tweedale has recommended to the Commissioners that an item for that purpose be included in the estimates to the next Congress. The Acting Auditor has suggested a way out of the dilemma until action can be taken by Congress, namely, to pay for the work out of the emergency fund, and assess the amount against the property. When the assessment is made, the emergency fund can be repaid.

The matter was brought up by the consideration of the removal of a dangerous structure on a lot on D Street between Eleventh and Twelfth Streets southeast. Attention was called to the building by William Koch, of 724 Thirtieth Street northwest, last February. Ever since the District government has endeavored to find a way to remedy the condition.

PUTTING UP THE BARS
AGAINST ADULTERATIONS

Dr. Wiley Holds Up Foodstuffs From Europe and Orient.

Dr. H. W. Wiley, chief of the Bureau of Chemistry of the Department of Agriculture, has asked the Secretary of the Treasury to hold up a number of cargoes of foodstuffs bound to this country, until they can be examined under the regulations of the new pure food law. Dr. Wiley will not state what classes of foods he is anxious to examine, but said that they came both from the Orient and Europe. Rice, sugar, and staples of that character will not be held up, as they are not often adulterated, but canned goods, cheese, peppers, spices, and other stuffs which have been notoriously adulterated in the past, will be carefully examined.

Declarations of the character of goods in cargoes are arriving at the bureau at the rate of about thirty per day, and from these declarations Dr. Wiley will select the cargoes which he wishes to examine.

Dr. Wiley has returned from St. Paul, where he attended the national convention of State dairy and food commissioners. The convention was a staid affair over the new food law governing imports, and hopes to get Congress to pass a law which will regulate the transportation of adulterated and mislabeled foods between the States. J. W. Bailey, of Oregon, will head a committee which will appear before Congress to urge the passage of such a law.

LODGE SESSION.

A called meeting of the Young Men's Sodality Lyceum will be held tonight. At this meeting it will be decided when to attend the lawn party now in progress on the St. Mary's Academy lawn.

SEARCH FOR ABDUCTED CHILD.

A man who said he was a member of the Burns detective force arrived in this city yesterday and began a search for a strange woman who, he said, had in her possession an eighteen-months-old child.

He said the child was the grandson of Pierre Lorillard, of New York, and that he had been abducted. A reward of $25,000 has been offered for its recovery.

The detective said that the woman and child had been traced to this city, and he had learned that the woman had purchased a ticket to Tampa, Fla. He indicated that anyone who was instrumental in locating the child would be suitably rewarded.

BUD DOBLE MAKES HIS TRACK REAPPEARANCE

Veteran Driver Returns to Sulky After Nine Years.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 26.—In consequence of a heavy rain, which made the track fully four seconds slow, Lou Dillon was not driven to break her record, 2:03 1/2, yesterday afternoon, the exhibition being postponed until today. A much larger crowd was on hand yesterday. The first event, the 2:23 trot, was won by a Cleveland horse, Caspian, in straight heats, from such favorites as Kinney Lou, Patchen Maid, Cole Direct, and Guy Fortune. This race was characterized by the reappearance of Bud Doble in the sulky, after an absence of nine years.

In the 2:15 pace Dr. Madara won as he pleased, Guy Red was picked to win the 2:15 pace, but after the first heat he was outclassed, Illiners winning the event. The 2:08 trot brought out a strong field, but they were unable to step fast, as had been hoped, owing to the mud. The race went to Rhythmic in straight heats.

The concluding event, the 2:20 pace, was won by Tom Keene. Geary won the first heat, but acted badly in the second, and was outpaced in the third.

DISTRICT AND BALTIMORE
LAWYERS TO PLAY BALL

Robert W. Beach, of the Baltimore bar, was in town yesterday for the purpose of conferring with Secretary O'Shea, of the local lawyers' baseball committee relative to the series of games between the Washington and Baltimore lawyers, the first of which will be played in this city for the benefit of St. Ann's Infant Asylum. It was decided to play in Washington during the month of August, and the date will be decided upon as soon as Manager Loftus, of the Washington Baseball Club, returns to the city.
